Yeah, that Greenville!

The Greenville Chapter will be hosting the 2020 Region IV Chapters Regional Conference (CRC) IN GREENVILLE, SC, August 13-15. ASHRAE Region IV is comprised of HVAC engineers, vendors and contractors from North and South Carolina and Georgia. Since this year's event is being held in Greenville, SC, it is expected to have a large attendance of professionals from the Southeastern U.S. as well as some national attendees of HVAC engineers, manufacturers, representatives, and contractors.

The CRC is where members meet to do regional ASHRAE business, take educational courses, train new officers, get awards, and socialize with each other. It's a great opportunity for sponsors to get exposure and network with the best region in all of ASHRAE! So take this opportunity to come find out and see what ASHRAE Region IV and Yeah, that Greenville is all about!

As in the past, there will be many sponsorship opportunities to engage industry participation. Sponsors will have their company logo and name on event flyers, conference banners, conference websites and other recognition throughout the conference.

We are inviting you to be an important part of this great training and networking event!
